

Škorpion

The Škorpion vz. 61 is a Czechoslovak 7.65 mm machine pistol developed in 1959 by Miroslav Rybář and produced under the official designation Samopal vzor 61 by the Česká zbrojovka arms factory in Uherský Brod from 1961 to 1979.

Place of origin: Czechoslovakia

Effective firing range: 50–150 m (vz. 61, vz. 61 E); 900 rounds/min (vz. 82, vz. 83)

Rate of fire: 850 rounds/min (vz. 61, vz. 61 E); 900 rounds/min (vz. 82, vz. 83)

Barrel length: 115 mm (4.5 in) (vz. 61, vz. 61 E); 113 mm (4.4 in) (vz. 82, vz. 83)

Length: 517 mm (20.4 in) stock extended / 270 mm (10.6 in) stock folded

Designer: Miroslav Rybář

Manufacturer: Česká zbrojovka Uherský Brod, Zastava Arms

Price Euro €90each. FOB European Port. 9,000 in stock.